1. From 12 to 23 August 1953, a total of 480 to 500 men was discharged from the VP offices in Prenzlau at a daily rate of between 40 and 50. They made up only part of the VP Verband, and only about 25 percent of the total strength. Most of them were ~~deemed unreliable~~ or were completing their third year of active service. They were marched by groups of 10 to 15 men, each commanded by an officer to receive documentation at the district registration administrations. They turned in their uniforms, partly to their units and partly to the district registration administrations. A number of the numerous applications for discharge filed had not been complied with. Since these VPs refused to do any duty from 10 to 23 July, they created a terrible confusion. About 100 officers and enlisted men were excluded from the Volkspolizei during a big roll call to remedy the discharge psychosis. 1
2. Units committed in the Berlin area from 9 July to 4 August 1953 included the A Command Pinnow, which numbered about 1,300 men, the 2d A Command Prenzlau, which numbered about 1,700 men, and the 3d A Command Droegeheide, which numbered about 1,000 men. The billeting areas of the 2d A Command Prenzlau included Bornholmer Bruecke, Schoenholz and Lichtenberg-Koenigsfelde/Ost. The trains of the 2d A Command bivouacked in the city park at Biesdorf. On 4 August 1953, the Prenzlau VP unit was relieved by the Prora VP unit. While the 3d A Command returned to its usual posts by rail the 1st and 2d Commands were trucked back. 2. During the commitment, 1,900 to 2,000 men were left behind at the Prenzlau post. By 5 August 1953, the date of the return of the task forces from Berlin, this number was reduced to about 900 men by discharges and reassignments. Many soldiers were subsequently reassigned to minor alert forces. 1
3. The following is a list of ration strength figures of the Prenzlau unit as of 25 August 1953:

III Bn : 32 officers and 306 NCOs
and enlisted men.

The medical course and the supply course had distanded.

5. From 19 to 24 August 1953, a command post exercise which involved about 600 men of all arms of the unit, was held in the Strasburg area and was directed by Lieutenant Colonel Riedel (fnu), chief of staff of Armee-Gruppe Nord. Problems were combined action of all arms during attack and defense. Minor exercises at battalion level were also held in the Torgelow area. 3

- 25X1A 1. [REDACTED] Comment. In late May 1953, the actual strength of the Prenzlau division was assumed to be about 13,500 men. [REDACTED] This report indicates that the present strength slightly exceeds 7,000 men, which means a reduction by about 45 percent taking into account the strength of the engineer battalion and the bakery company not listed in the present report. The infantry regiments were substantially reduced, i.e. up to 50 percent, while the artillery regiment and the tank regiment were subjected to only limited reductions. It is believed that discharges were below 20 percent, and that the greater number were transfers and reassignments to other units. A previous report contained information on the beginning of reassigning measures of this type. [REDACTED] 25X1A
- 25X1A 2. [REDACTED] Comment. [REDACTED] elements of the Prenzlau division were committed in Berlin and were relieved by the Prora division. The return of, and departure from, the railroad station of Berlin-Magerviehhof of the 3d Inf Regt was covered by a previous transportation report. [REDACTED] 25X1A
- 25X1A 3. [REDACTED] Comment. The information on the command post exercise in the Strasburg area probably is correct. Other training activities are believed soon to reach regimental level.
